Coal Industry Warns Gov. Government Negotiations May Delay Return to Private Ownership

AGREEMENT ANALYZED

Washington, Oct. 30.—(P)—The coal industry warned today that if the government negotiates a new wage contract with John L. Lewis it will be "much more difficult" to restore the soft coal mines to private operation.

The warning came from John D. Battle, executive secretary of the National Coal Association, just two days before government officials are scheduled to meet with Lewis, who is demanding a new wage pact for his 400,000 United Mine Workers. The Coal Association speaks for the majority of bituminous producers.

The question of whether the government's existing agreement with Lewis can be reopened—as the UMW chief contends—still is being hotly debated. A number of government lawyers are reported to differ sharply from Interior Secretary Krug's stand that the pact is good for the duration of government operation of the mines.

At the justice department, where the contract is being analyzed, a press officer told reporters that Attorney General Tom Clark has made a formal ruling on this point.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross told a news conference today that he had no comment on a published report that Clark had disagreed with Krug's position. He also said that President Truman will wait until after the election to make any statement on the future of the Wage Stabilization Board which the administration reportedly is ready to abolish.

The issue of wage control was injected into the coal dispute by Lewis, who cited "significant changes" of government policy in arguing for reopening of the miners' agreement with the government. Reportedly, the administration is striving for a formula that will keep the mines operating without raising a target for a possible new round of wage demands in other industries.

In response to questions, Ross told his news conference he considered it "unlikely that Mr. Truman will clarify the status of the wage stabilization board" before he returns next Wednesday from Independence, Mo., where he will vote in the congressional elections.

Careful study of the miners' present contract reportedly convinced some government lawyers that Lewis has a strong argument to support his contention that he is entitled to reopen the entire question of wages, hours and other matters. By contrast, Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug has maintained there can be no question of a new contract and only the present working agreement with the government can be discussed.

Some officials privately expressed belief that Coal Mines Administrator N. H. Collisson, pinch-hitting for Krug at the Friday conference, might offer another type of concession than actual wage increases. Krug himself is away on a western inspection tour. He is not scheduled to return to Washington until after November 6.

Despite the timing of Lewis' wage demands—hitting right at the peak of the government's efforts to junk both price and wage controls and still discourage industrial strife—the administration was reported ready to get rid of the Wage Stabilization Board as it now stands.

Long-Delayed World Flight By Superfort Fleet Proving Ticklish Issue For Byrnes

Washington, Oct. 30.—(P)—Secretary of State Byrnes today sought the answer to this ticklish question tossed at him by the War Department: Should he approve a round-the-world flight by a fleet of Army B-29 superforts?

State Department officials regard the problem as delicate for several reasons.

First, they say the Army Air Forces put Byrnes on the spot by announcing October 8—without consulting the State Department—that eight to 24 of the big bombers would make the flight "if the State Department approves."

Actually, the formal request for permission to carry out the project reached Byrnes' desk only late yesterday.

Then, some department officials believe that since the end of the war, both the army and navy on occasion have attempted to edge into state's field of charting American foreign policy. They regard the projected B-29 flight as the latest of these attempts.

In this connection, there is a strong desire by many high-level state department officials to avoid any act that could be called "sword rattling." They believe any large scale demonstration of American military might could be exploited—particularly by Russia—to discredit this country's motives in international dealings.

Most state department officials say they believe the answer to just one question will determine Byrnes' stand on the matter:

Would such a flight at the present time—when the United Nations assembly is meeting and the big four foreign ministers are about to convene for final action on European peace treaties—be an asset or a detriment to United States foreign policy?

World Flight Fleet Proving Ticklish Issue For Byrnes

Plan Embargo On Pittsburgh Rail Shipping

Pittsburgh, Oct. 30.—(P)—More windows were smashed in the AFL-CIO beer union dispute here today.

Pieces of brick and concrete, thrown from a speeding automobile, knocked out five windows in a saloon and beer distributing shop.

Meanwhile the AFL Teamsters Union announced deferment for two or three days of the rail shipments embargo which it had threatened to put in effect tomorrow in the "beer war."

Union leaders said they want time to determine how much of Pittsburgh's essentials, such as food and medicines, they could haul into the city by substituting trucks for railroad cars.

Nevertheless, they said the union's membership will still meet tonight to ratify plans for the embargo. The union wants to make railroads halt movement of coal to local breweries.

Melvin Humphreys, president of the Teamsters local, said the embargo would halt movement of food and other supplies from railroad sidings to distribution points and warehouses. AFL leaders said that to prevent a food shortage they will haul needed items into the city by truck.

Only slight progress was reported at a second conference of the rival unions with Judge Henry Ellenbogen yesterday although the jurist declared he was "not too pessimistic about the prospects of a peaceful settlement."

Judge Ellenbogen's proposal for a 15-day truce in the beer war was rejected by the teamsters.

The judge announced that he would not hear the petition for an injunction against the Western Pennsylvania Beer Distributors Association filed by the Teamsters yesterday in common pleas court.

Judge Ellenbogen said he was withdrawing from the case because of an objection by Attorney Leonard Borsman, representing an insurgent group of distributors, who pointed out that the judge was formerly counsel for the Teamsters Union.

KING COTTON TUMBLES TO LOW LEVEL

Changes Suddenly Slam Shut For Third Time In Less Than 2 Weeks

SITUATION SURVEYED

Vienna, Ga., Oct. 30.—(P)—Senator George (D-Ga.) today urged immediate price decontrol on manufactured cotton goods "to stabilize the cotton market."

Washington, Oct. 30.—(P)—Rep. Spaxton (D-Ala.) quoted President today as saying it is "the purpose of the government to do everything possible to stabilize the cotton market."

Spaxton told reporters the president had authorized him to pilfer "whatever war powers necessary" to prevent further collapse in cotton prices.

New York, Oct. 30.—(P)—The nation's principal cotton exchange suddenly was slammed shut today for the third time in less than two weeks after the price of king cotton had tumbled by an extreme of more than $50 a bale.

The New York Cotton Exchange acted swiftly this morning, only a few minutes before trading was to open. The New Orleans and Chicago exchanges followed immediately. The Dallas, Tex., Exchange refused to close.

Frank J. Knell, president of the New York Exchange, said only that "numerous requests have been received from shipping centers in the cotton belt, pleading for a temporary suspension of trading in cotton futures to allow for an orderly survey of the spot situation in the south."

In an apparent move to prevent panic selling by hard hit cotton producers, the department of agriculture in Washington issued a statement that the cotton crop was in a "favorable statistical position."

The disruption of cotton trading in the last two weeks has been all but unprecedented.

New York, Oct. 30.—(P)—Frank J. Knell, president of the New York Cotton Exchange, announced trading on the exchange would be suspended today in accordance with a decision of the board of managers.

Trading also was suspended today on the New Orleans cotton exchange "until further notice."

The Chicago board of trade announced trading in cotton futures was suspended for today.

In the past two weeks cotton futures have dropped an outside of $50 a bale.

Suspension of activity today followed similar action the past two Saturdays, by the cotton markets at New York, New Orleans, Chicago and Houston.

The last Saturday closing was designed, managers of the exchange said, to give extrical help a chance to catch up with a heavy backlog of work. During the past 10 days trading in cotton futures has been at an unprecedented scale and prices in a prolonged retreat.

Host of Items From Radios To Funerals Off OPA List

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
Washington, Oct. 30.—(P)—OPA yanked price lists off a host of things ranging from radios to funerals today as the agency rushed final paper work on the "master" decontrol list.

The emphasis today was on small items that go into furnishing a home. The next list will apply largely to business and industrial goods. Its scheduled Friday announcement may be delayed.

In addition to radios of all types, price ceilings ceased to apply last midnight to electrical appliances, all clocks and scores of other types of "consumer durable goods."

The agency said all things on the three-page list either were in balance between supply and demand or unimportant to business or living costs.

It emphasized that ceilings still remain on household mechanical

DIPLOMATS OF FIFTY NATIONS DEBATE CHALLENGING POLICY OUTLINED BY SOVIET ENVOY

BULLETIN
New York, Oct. 30.—(P)—An "important statement" on United States foreign policy will be made today by American Chief Delegate Warren Austin in his address to the United Nations General Assembly, a delegation spokesman disclosed. The address, it was learned, will contain some references to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's bombshell speech to the assembly last night, in which he demanded immediate action on a four-point arms control proposal. Whether the American policy statement to be made by Austin would state the American position on the armaments reduction issue which Molotov has raised in this assembly for the first time, or whether it would be connected with some other aspect of foreign policy was not disclosed by the delegation spokesman.

BULLETIN
New York, Oct. 30.—(P)—Greece, in the first direct response to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's sweeping demands for world arms limitations, told the United Nations Assembly today that she was prepared to support the Russian proposal, with the reservation that international control and sanctions must be set up to safeguard peace. Greek Foreign Minister Thanassis Argyrakis said he was stating Greece's position in response to Molotov's invitation for comment. He spoke shortly after Australian Delegate J. O. Makin, without making a direct reference to Molotov's disarmament proposal, had urged the assembly to start work on the whole question of arms limitations.

New York, Oct. 29.—(P)—Fears of new tensions between Russia and the western powers over atomic controls, disarmament, the veto and other critical issues swept through many United Nations Assembly delegations today as diplomats from 50 member countries debated the challenging policy speech hurled into the assembly by Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov.

The Soviet leader topped off his speech with a four-point arms reduction program, including a request for action by the assembly to try to get the United States to stop making atomic bombs.

American and other major delegation members were reported considering what response they might make to this as well as to various charges laid down by Molotov in blunt, sometimes harsh, language.

Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate, was scheduled to speak during the second of two assembly sessions.

Molotov tossed his oratorical bombshell in a lively session last night assailing Winston Churchill as a "prophet" of "aggressive, imperialistic circles" in America and Britain and blasting Bernard Baruch, U. S. member of the U. N. atomic commission, for holding a "militant philosophy" leading toward a "new aggression."

He attacked the American atomic energy plan as designed to give this country an atomic monopoly, asserted abolition of the veto would wreck the United Nations, and demanded a U. N. report on American and British troops in foreign lands. Capping off his address with the four-point arms reduction plan, he urged the assembly to act on it at once. This produced one of the most dramatic incidents in the assembly to date.

Molotov had spoken in Russian. When he finished he had to wait through two long translations of his 7,000-word speech, one into English, the other into French. When the interpreters finished, President Paul Henri

Extension Of Rent Ceilings Starts Nov. 1

Washington, Oct. 30.—(P)—A wide extension of rent ceilings effective Nov. 1, was announced today by OPA.

The agency announced that 88 more rental areas with a total population of more than 3,500,000 will be brought under rental ceiling Friday.

Eighty-one of these areas are being controlled for the first time while rent ceilings are being restored in the remaining seven.

At the same time the Bluefield, W. Va., area will be extended to include Boone, Fayette and Summers counties.

These 88 areas had a total of 323,549 rental units in 1940, OPA said.

The agency said that the new additions brings the nation's rental areas up to 50 and that "few additional areas will require controls because today's list covers those in which rent pressures have been mounting since the war."

Government officials said they had been watching rents throughout the country since the end of the war and that the housing shortage "has been becoming more acute."

They said that action in many of the areas going under ceilings next month resulted from appeals or petitions by local officials.

"Increasing employment by local industry, return of veterans and their families have contributed to the housing shortage in most areas," they said.

Included in the new ceiling areas are 23 college towns where the return of veterans and students has aggravated housing shortages.

Harrisburg, Oct. 30.—(P)—Unemployed persons seeking jobless benefits in Pennsylvania are not entitled to a 30-day period in which they "may refuse any and all work except that which is exactly the same as their last previous employment" the state unemployment compensation board of review has ruled.

The decision came yesterday on the claim of Harry M. Eger, of Lake Worth, Fla., who was last employed as a carpenter's helper at $1.05 per hour and who refused a job as attendant at a gas station at $40 a week.

The board ruled "it appears that work similar to the claimant's last regular employment was not available" and also "the wages in the position offered were reasonably commensurate with his previous regular earnings."

Eger had claimed benefits for two weeks ending Jan. 22, 1946, after he had rejected the gas station job on Jan. 8.

Lilienthal Says Control Of Atom Will Vitalize The U. N.

Philadelphia, Oct. 30.—(P)—World control of atomic energy will vitalize the United Nations and open the way to a rule of the world law," David E. Lilienthal, newly-appointed chairman of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, said.

Speaking last night at a joint meeting sponsored by the Philadelphia Forum, the United Nations Council of Philadelphia and the Association of Philadelphia Scientists, Lilienthal said United Nations control of atomic energy will not "guarantee an end to war." However, he continued, it will help prevent wars by eliminating "constant fear of surprise attack by this surprise weapon."

Lilienthal, who was appointed to his new post today, said: "Only by collaboration among the nations and peoples of the world can this evil cloud be removed and the full benefits to men of his magnificent discovery realized."

Outlawing the manufacture of atomic bombs by mere agreement nations might "prove worse than nothing at all," he said, since it would "create suspicion and fear as to what the other fellow is doing behind closed doors."

He added that "the bomb was originally developed in secret and could probably be developed in secret again."

The former chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority said a global atomic development authority should be established composed of men "who might become the elite of the scientific world."

Vital Decision On Compensation

Harrisburg, Oct. 30.—(P)—Unemployed persons seeking jobless benefits in Pennsylvania are not entitled to a 30-day period in which they "may refuse any and all work except that which is exactly the same as their last previous employment" the state unemployment compensation board of review has ruled.

The decision came yesterday on the claim of Harry M. Eger, of Lake Worth, Fla., who was last employed as a carpenter's helper at $1.05 per hour and who refused a job as attendant at a gas station at $40 a week.

Eger had claimed benefits for two weeks ending Jan. 22, 1946, after he had rejected the gas station job on Jan. 8.

Meat Prices Level Off In Pittsburgh

Pittsburgh, Oct. 30.—(P)—Meat prices are gradually leveling off here.

The buyer for a chain of self-service stores said supplies increased over the weekend, and that duck roast fell from 49 to 45 cents a pound, plate roast from 26 to 28 cents and sirloin steak from 64 to 59 cents.

Fork, lamb and veal stayed about the same as last week.

Franklin Man Is Killed Near Sharon

Sharon, Oct. 30.—(P)—S. Dana Klinger, 21, of Franklin, was killed instantly and two companions were critically injured today when an automobile driven by Klinger crashed into the side of a bridge near Jackson center.

State police at Mercer said Klinger a war veteran, apparently was unable to make a curve in the highway. They were continuing their investigation.

The passengers, Charles Robinson, 21, of Route 1, Franklin, and Robert Reichard of Detroit, are in Mercer County Hospital.

Violence Claims 27 Persons In Greece

Athens, Oct. 30.—(P)—Press reports said today that violence claimed 27 lives in Greece in the last 24 hours, with most of the casualties reported in a series of clashes in the north.

Thirteen persons, including 10 members of Leftist bands, were said to have been killed in one fierce fight at Vrysika, in the Volos district.

Dry Interests Sue Columbia Broadcast Co.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 30.—(P)—A $32,000 suit seeking dissolution of the 169-station Columbia Broadcasting System was filed in federal district court here today against CBS, five of its officials, the Schenley Distillery Corporation and Schenley Distilleries, Inc.

The civil action was brought by Sam Morris, Dallas, Texas, evangelist and active campaigner against the use of alcoholic beverages, and Henry M. Johnson, Louisville lawyer and president of the Kentucky Sunday School Association.

The petition accused Columbia of "unjust discrimination in not selling time for abstinence broadcasts by Sam Morris, the designated spokesman for the anti-liquor drinking forces." It alleged that requests for broadcast time had been made "repeatedly" and in each instance refused.

In New York, CBS said it had no comment to the suit.

Utah and Nevada Both Stormbound

Salt Lake City, Oct. 30.—(P)—Snows and rains which have drenched Utah and Nevada for three days moved northeast today leaving in their wake washed out railroad tracks, stranded hunters and stockmen, damaged crops and broken telephone and power lines.

Workers for the Union Pacific Railroad rushed repairs on two points of the main line between here and Los Angeles after washouts followed what was described as the worst flood conditions in 25 years near Caliente, Nev.

With deer hunting in Utah at its height, separate parties totaling 17 persons were lost or isolated in mountainous areas by heavy snows but eight of them managed to walk to towns or were rescued. Some of them abandoned their cars, the remaining nine, all snowbound in the southern mountains near Cedar City, a party of four were believed to have reached an isolated ranch house.

Jerusalem Convoy Wrecked By Mine

Jerusalem, Oct. 30.—(P)—Three bombs, planted by Tommygun-wielding youths whom police described as Jews, exploded in Jerusalem general railway station today.

The station had been evacuated before the blasts.

A road mine which police said was set by the Jewish underground exploded under a military convoy here earlier today, wrecking two army trucks, killing two soldiers and injuring 10.

Troops and police launched a search immediately and soon announced discovery of a "fairly large" cache of illegal weapons in the Jewish settlement of Givat Shaul, just outside the city. A curfew had been clamped on the settlement Oct. 9, after a similar explosion on a nearby road.

Another outbreak of violence was reported from the All-Jewish city of Tel Aviv, where four armed men robbed two Polish cashiers of $2,000 in a daring street hold-up.

An officer in charge of police at the scene of the Jerusalem explosion attributed the blast, which was said to have been detonated electrically, to a Jewish underground organization. It occurred only a few hours after the Inner Zionist Council had denounced bloodshed "as an instrument of the Zionist political struggle."

Striking Teachers Studying Ultimatum

Uniontown, Oct. 30.—(P)—Striking Redstone township teachers meet tonight to decide their answer to a school board ultimatum to return to work Thursday or face possible cancellation of their contracts.

David Devito, chairman of the teachers' grievance committee, said the committee members had agreed not to go back and urged all teachers to do the same.

The 111 teachers walked out on Oct. 11 in a demand for a $400 annual wage increase. The board has offered to submit the pay demand and other disputed issues to arbitration if the teachers return to work.

Pickets to Encircle Co. Court House

Greensburg, Oct. 30.—(P)—An AFL union official today contemplated using a picket line that would "completely encircle" the Westmoreland county courthouse in a dispute over use of non-union labor on a construction job at the building.

Charles W. Compton, president of AFL-Construction and General Labor Union Local 1451, said the band of 10 pickets who paraded before the courthouse yesterday would be considerably reinforced but did not specify how many additional pickets would be used.

Compton appeared to the public to "respect the picket line" but made no reference to public officials and employees who work in the building.

Sheriff Howard Thomas, who was out of town all day yesterday, said he had had no occasion to cross the picket line, but that if occasion did arise, he would not cross it. He said, however, that his deputies would be on duty as usual.

Industrial Activity Below That Of Aug.

State College, Oct. 30.—(P)—Industrial activity in Pennsylvania during September was below that of August and also below that for the month during the war years, 1942 and 1944, it was revealed today by the monthly business survey of the Pennsylvania State College.

The index of industrial activity stood at 162 during September compared to 151 a year ago and 170 in August, 1946. The index uses 1935-39 as 100 and is based on coal production, employee hours in manufacturing, and industrial power sales.

Battle For Control Of House Highlights Election Tuesday

Washington, Oct. 30.—(P)—The Democrats already have 67 seats locked up with unopposed candidates against only 10 assured for the Republicans in next Tuesday's battle of ballots for control of the house of representatives.

Nevertheless, not since 1931, when they lost control, have Republicans been so keen on their chances—nor the Democrats more determined to stop them.

At stake are all but three of the 435 house seats. Those three already have been filed in Maine's election in September. With control goes the speakership, scores of choice patronage jobs, the chairmanships and domination of all house committees, and the power generally to direct the course of legislation.

A strong psychological asset is at stake, for not in half a century has the party that won

Family Needs Clothes And Home Supplies

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Waite, whose cozy home on Robbins Hill was destroyed by fire this week have appealed through the Salvation Army here for clothing and furniture. In the loss of their home through a fire started from a gasoline motor they lost their all. Some furniture had been moved out but it caught fire and was also destroyed. The couple is now in need of so many supplies that they are unable to finance the purchases.

There are six children who are now among friends and the children, two boys 13 and 9 years of age and four girls, 18, 16, 12 and 8 are all in need of clothing as only the garments they wore at the time of the fire are in their possession. Salvation Army officials have carefully investigated and add their word urging help for the stricken family.

It was also announced this morning that Salvation Army officers are thankful to the people of the city for the fine response made in an appeal for the family of Harry Williams burned out of his home with loss of all possessions. They have been clothed and rehabilitated and the response by the kind hearted citizens of the city was most generous.

In concluding, the speaker described the work of National Affairs Committee as public opinion effectively stemming from the "grass roots" or local level. He quoted one local chairman as calling it "Democracy in Action".

The local meeting was the outgrowth of a National Affairs Conference held at Olean, Wednesday October 16th. The area gathering was co-sponsored by Chambers of Commerce and business groups from Allegany, Bolivar, Bradford, Corry, Cuba, Eldred, Franklinville, Friendship, Jamestown, Kane, Olean, Port Allegany, Portville, Salamanca, Warren and Wellsville, along with the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The installation ceremonies were in charge of District Commander W. G. Porter of Grove City, assisted by several past commanders of Chief Comptroller Post.

District Service Officer James Handeman, of Franklin, was present and gave a very impressive talk on problems that confront veterans at the present time.

The newly elected officers of the Youngsville Post and the Sugar Grove Post were present and were also installed by Dis. Com. Porter.

Plans were discussed for the usual Armistice Day observance which will begin with a special program at 11:00 a. m. Monday, November 11th. The Veterans of Foreign Wars will assist in this program.

Chairman Hoyer of the membership committee reported satisfactory progress.

A class of candidates were initiated in an impressive ceremony.

Final plans were presented for improvements to the Home. These were adopted and the Home Corporation has been authorized to proceed with same.

At the conclusion of the meeting, refreshments were served by the House Committee under the leadership of Glenn Patchen.

Former Local Business Man Is Retiring

Rev. and Mrs. Charles Giessele, who have returned to their home in Waukesha, Wis., after a brief visit with the former's aunt, Miss Mary Peter, and the Robert Truster family.

Rev. Giessele has just recently resigned from the post of director of the department of public welfare in Waukesha, a position he has filled most capably for more than 13 years.

Before assuming that office, he was for 12 years executive secretary of the administrative council of the Wisconsin Presbyterian Synod and, prior to that time, was a pastor in North Milwaukee.

Papers in Waukesha have paid sincere tribute to his efforts in handling efficiently an enormous task during the emergency relief years, and one editor has written: "The part Giessele and his large corps of workers played in relieving distress, anxiety and actual suffering will never be fully told, but it was a job well done and faithfully but quietly performed."

Nearly 700,000,000 pounds of used fats were recovered in the four-year period from August, 1942 to July, 1946.

Air Mail Week Has Response In This City

The volume of mail dispatched by air from the Warren post office has increased very materially during the first three days of National Air Mail week. Postmaster Bell told a reporter this morning.

"The response of the public to our request to send their letters by air throughout the period of the observation of Air Mail Week has been very gratifying," said the Postmaster. "Our post office air mail figures are being reported to Washington for comparison with other post offices in our class and we are anxious to make a good showing, not only as a matter of local pride, but to do our part in promoting a rate which should be beneficial to the countries' mail service."

He also reported that the employees of the post office have joined in the educational campaign. "Postal employees are in more frequent contact with the public than any other government employee and they have promised first to suggest wider use of air mail during this week and second, to bring the news of reduced rates to their patrons. The rate is now five cents to the United States and its possessions, Servicemen overseas, and to Canada and Mexico."

The local Post Office has requested the Times-Mirror to again bring to the attention of its readers the Speed Test of mail dispatched by air to the West Indies, Central and South America which has been arranged by the air lines serving these countries and which will be conducted for one day only, Friday November 1st.

The public is requested to participate in this test by addressing an envelope to Pan American World Airways System, Air Mail Test, to any capital city of the above countries, and mail on November 1. The new postal rate is 10 cents. Upon arrival at destination the envelope will be postmarked with time of arrival and returned to you via air without extra charge. The return address must appear in the upper left hand corner of the envelope.

Mail for this test flight should be in our office not later than 9:15 Friday morning, November 1.

WAITING FOR THE SHOWDOWN

There was a marked contrast between the friendly speeches and friendly greetings at the opening of the Security Council session in New York and the blunt words spoken by Prime Minister Attlee and his predecessor, Mr. Churchill, in England on the same day.

While President Truman carefully avoided direct mention of Russia in his speech (though deploring some of Russia's tactics), both British statesmen made the Soviet government the direct target of pointed questions and bitter complaints. They also revealed a united Labor-conservative desire for revision of the permanent Security Council members' veto power.

Mr. Attlee expressed some familiar criticism of Russian habits—Communist name-calling, Communist definition of democracy, and so on. Mr. Churchill's remarks were equally frank, and somewhat more resting.

He found it necessary to mention war, explaining that it would not be possible "to conduct discussions with any sense of reality at the present time without the occasional use of that odious and tragic word."

He asked verification of the report that there are 10 Red Army divisions on a war footing in Eastern Europe. He repeated his Fulton, Mo., belief that what Russia wanted was not war but the fruits of war.

Finally, Mr. Churchill offered some positive proposals for British policy. Among them were the suggestions that the occupation troops be withdrawn from Greece as soon as possible, and that Britain give up the Palestine mandate if she is unable to fulfill her pledges to the Jews.

Those policy proposals emphasize how few seeds of unbreeding discord there would be in the world today if Russia would only adopt a policy of reasonable co-operation, cease her militant seclusion, curb her attitude of truculent nationalism, and halt the continuous attacks on her former allies.

There is more important work for the United Nations than hovering nervously about the Soviet delegation and wondering what its mood will be today. Britain certainly could turn over Palestine to the UN. Foreign troops could be withdrawn from Greece and China—and certainly would be if Russia would declare her intentions and call her troops home. There are oppressed and depressed peoples of the earth who need help toward independence and a better life. But all this must wait upon the brooding and mysterious directors of Soviet policy.

This Russian attitude really asks too much of the rest of the world. But complaints about Communist defamations and catch phrases won't change it. Neither will admirable restatements of admirable policies and aims, such as those given recently by President Truman and Secretary Byrnes, however necessary they may be.

Someday, somehow, patient and firm dealings have got to extract from the Russian diplomats a frank statement of what Russia wants, and how far she intends to go to get it. The fundamental problem facing the UN members outside the Soviet orbit, particularly the United States and Great Britain, is how many blue chips it will take to call the Soviet government and force a show of its cards, face up on the table.

On San Juan's day, as usual, the famous swallows of San Juan Capistrano Mission flew out to sea. And if nothing upsets their undulating 167-year schedule, they'll return to the California mission on St. Joseph's day, March 19. Local residents call it a miracle. On San Juan's day John L. Lewis threatened a coal strike. And it will be a miracle if he isn't threatening another one on St. Joseph's day next March. We fervently hope that the miracle will be forthcoming.

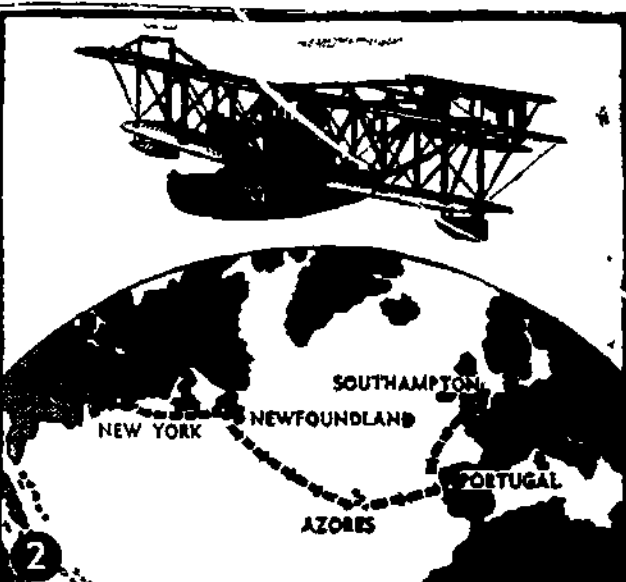

An aspirin company dedicated one of its recent sponsored broadcasts to the United Nations. It might be a nice reciprocal gesture for the United Nations to dedicate one of its sessions to the aspirin company. The aspirin people aren't alone in their regard for the United Nations. We don't know where the world would be today without the UN. But, alas, we don't know where the UN would be without aspirin, either.

Householders may encourage a safe and sane observance of Halloween by taking in porch furniture and other articles that decorate yards and lawns during the summer. Anyhow it's time to get ready for winter.

A bridge expert says there are no natural players. It takes practice to kick the right person under the table.

Just a short time until woman's place will be in the front seat.

WINGS OF TOMORROW: The Story of Aviation

BY CHARLES TRACY
Aviation editor, Cleveland Press; former Army pilot
(Written for NEA Service)

(1) Four years of war changed the airplane from a flimsy, box-kite affair to a streamlined machine of destruction. Leaders saw its great potentialities as a weapon. New concepts of national defense were urged by Gen. Billy Mitchell, later court-martialed as a result of his outspoken views in favor of air power. Adventurous war heroes sought new fields to conquer with planes. DeHavillands were standard in the Army Air Service in 1918. They were put to use when the Army began carrying the first regular mail between Washington, D. C., and Long Island, N. Y.

(2) Forerunners of today's luxurious air liners were the Curtiss flying boats built for the U. S. Navy in 1918. The NC-1 established a world's record that year by lifting 50 passengers on a single flight. Along with the NC-3 and NC-4, the NC-1 began a trans-Atlantic flight in 1919. But the NC-4, under the command of Lieut. Albert C. Read, U. S. N., was the only plane successful in completing the trip from

New York to Southampton, via Newfoundland, the Azores and Portugal, in 12 days.

(3) First non-stop flight over the Atlantic was made in 1919 by Capt. John Alcock, British aviator, and Lieut. A. Whitten Brown, World War flyer, in a Vickers two-engine bomber. They covered 1936 miles from St. John's, Newfoundland, to Clifden, Ireland, in 16 hours and 12 minutes, landing in a swamp because they had dropped their landing gear after take-off. Four Army Douglas biplanes began their first globe-circling flight the same year. Two of them finished the trip, in 175 days. Their actual flying time was 363 hours over the 26,345-mile route.

(4) Aviation captured the popular imagination in 1927, when one of the world's most famous flyers, Charles Augustus Lindbergh, aimed the nose of his Ryan monoplane toward Paris after staggering into the air at Roosevelt Field, L. I., under a heavy fuel load. After 33 hours and 39 minutes of battling fatigue and rough Atlantic weather, he landed at Paris, completing the first solo crossing of the treacherous route which has claimed the lives of many brilliant airmen.

Encouraging news to the many friends of "Gibby" Johnson, of the Style Shop, who has been a patient in the Warren General Hospital for two weeks, was received today when it was announced that he had a good night and was somewhat improved today.

WASHINGTON—For years physicists and other persons who make a business of probing world-shaking problems have been trying to find a way to prevent earthquakes.

No one has ever approached an answer, and the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey wants to know that it makes no claims either on how to prevent earthquakes or how to predict them.

Comdr. Elliott B. Roberts, in charge of the division of Geomagnetism and Seismology of the Survey, says that all it can do is to state "probabilities in certain areas as against improbabilities in other areas."

More specifically, the Coast and Geodetic Survey for the past three years has had a representative working throughout the American republics to "encourage expansion and more effective co-operation" in seismological investigations.

PHYSICIST Franklin P. Ulrich is the representative. One of his jobs has been to discuss with engineers and architects the program in the United States for adequate earthquake resistant construction and to assist the various republics in obtaining information on the subject.

He says it has been estimated that approximately 50,000 persons have been killed annually during the past 100 years in earthquakes, mainly because of poor construction.

He adds that there is no doubt that much of the property loss, which has run into billions of dollars, could have been avoided by building to withstand earthquakes.

Currently under discussion is the possible formation of a central seismological (earthquake recording) organization in the Western Hemisphere and the setting up of a permanent international organization to assure continuity of its program.

Mr. Ulrich says that at the present time a construction boom is in progress throughout practically the entire world, and the available information on earthquakes is not sufficient for the officials who have to include provisions for earthquake-resistant design in the building codes.

THE most notable earthquake zone is around the entire border of the Pacific ocean. Another is in the region of the Mediterranean and eastward through the Near East and India.

But, says Comdr. Roberts, earthquakes have occurred in all parts of the earth during the past year.

The most important of these originated four miles off the coast of the Dominican Republic last Aug. 4. Many casualties were caused by a resulting tidal wave, which swept away an entire village on a low coastal level.

Of approximately equal importance was an earthquake April 1 in the Aleutian Islands. This set up long-range tidal waves which were recorded on gauges in various parts of the Pacific basin and did extensive damage at Hilo, Hawaii.

Radiophone Is Explained At Lions Meeting

In an illustrated lecture delivered Tuesday evening at a meeting of the Lions' Club, C. H. Springer, local manager of the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania, reviewed the history of the development of radiotelephone communications and outlined telephone company plans for providing this service.

Mr. Springer said that science has put telephones on the dashboards of motor vehicles, making it possible for drivers to place and receive telephone calls without leaving their cars. Mobile telephones provided by the telephone company are connected with its general telephone system. This makes it possible to call between a motor vehicle so equipped and any of the millions of telephones served directly by or connected with the Bell system.

Radiotelephone service is now being introduced in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, as well as 32 other cities in the United States. The service will later be extended along the highways and into other cities and towns.

However, Mr. Springer stated that introduction of the new service is not interfering in any way with the Bell Company's primary job of eliminating telephone "waiting lists" as rapidly as possible.

Powered by the automobile battery, the radiotelephone equipment includes a small radio set and single antenna for transmitting and receiving messages. A hand-set telephone instrument, similar to the regular telephone, is used. This instrument, is controlled by a push-button which is pressed when talking and released when listening. The driver wishing to place a call signals the nearest receiving station by pressing the button of his telephone instrument. A mobile service operator answers by radio and establishes a telephone wire connection with the called telephone.

Calls from regular telephones are routed over telephone wires through service operator who signals by radio to the desired vehicle. An audible signal as well as a light signal informs the driver of the call.

This new service will be expanded to meet the public demand as rapidly as manufacturing facilities permit. At the conclusion of his talk the speaker answered various questions asked by the club members.

A short business session was also held at the meeting and various committee reports were heard together with other items which

Initiation To Be Held With Many Features

Secretary Walter Kiser, of the Warren Lodge of Moose, announced today that the initiation of a new class of candidates will take place on Wednesday, November 20th, at the Moose Home on Hickory street. The order is now conducting a drive for members and a large number are being signed up. Plans for the class initiation call for the presence of several of the lodge dignitaries and there is a possibility that Supreme Governor Leo Ryan, of Bradford, may be in attendance. There will also be a floor show and other features arranged for the evening.

Workmen are now at work placing the lodge room of the Moose in fine condition. The room has been repaired and now redecorating is under way. When completed the appearance will be much bettered and the room will be highly pleasing to the members. It is hoped to have all of the work completed prior to the class initiation on November 20.

Thank God For Muscle-Rub!

Writes Mr. Robert Jordan, Colon, Mich.

Advices every sufferer from Rheumatic-Arthritic-Sciatic-Neuritic Pains to try Muscle-Rub.

Here's the true story of a man who took treatments, used all kinds of remedies for his sciatic, neuritic pains without being helped in the slightest degree. Mr. Robert Jordan of Colon, Mich., suffered agony from pains in his hip-knee-calf of legs. The pain at times was so bad that he couldn't sit down. He tried several different treatments, many different medicines, all of which did him no good. He couldn't work. Life was misery for him.

Then one day he saw an advertisement of Muscle-Rub—the doctor's prescription—and in desperation bought a bottle. He used it as directed and in 3 days the pains were relieved and Mr. Jordan was back on the job.

No wonder he advises every rheumatic sufferer to try Muscle-Rub for fast pain relief. Get a bottle today at all good drug stores.

Remember, Muscle-Rub is sold on this money back guarantee. If only half a bottle doesn't bring relief your druggist is authorized to return your money.—Adv.

DEMOCRATS

By the Associated Press

U. S. Senator Francis J. Myers warned a group of agriculture conservation committeemen at Gettysburg last night that while the present farm price support program has been guaranteed for the next two years "it can be repudiated by future congress."

He said "there have been voices raised in an almost hysterical attack upon the idea of farm price support" but he told the group that "such things as crop insurance are no less revolutionary than life insurance, or fire insurance, or rain insurance."

U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey, seeking a third term at the head of the Democratic ticket, said at Wilkes-Barre last night that a Republican victory on Nov. 5 "Would be one of the greatest disasters in American history."

He declared that the Democratic party in Pennsylvania is still the Roosevelt party and added he is proud that his record "of Roosevelt support has been so outstanding that the people who attacked

SUDDENLY the noise of a key in the bedroom door stiffened him. He thought, this is what I've really been waiting for. He turned to face the doorway. It was a small doorway but even so the man who loomed in it was a big man, taller and broader of shoulder than Niel. His brilliant blue eyes seemed to be recording for all time exactly how Niel looked at that precise moment. Niel thought, he looks at me as if he knew me but I've never seen him before.

Returning his steady look, Niel marvelled that such a man was his captor.

"Where am I?" he asked.

"I can't tell you. . . I suppose you are feeling cut adrift."

"I feel like a suspended soul," answered Niel dryly. "Do you know who I am?"

The man grinned at the tone of his voice. "You are Niel Francis Dana, a captain in the Intelligence Service of the American army of occupation, son of the late Francis Dana and of Mrs. Cindie Dana of New York, graduate of . . . but shall I go on?"

Niel grunted: "I just wanted to make sure you had the right guy." Up till now he had been trying to convince himself that they had made a mistake. "How long will I be here?"

"That depends on people, on a number of people. You better use this shaving water before it gets cold. Will you pull out that stool please."

Niel had scarcely been aware of the tray the man held—a steaming jug, razor and towels. As he bent to set the tray on the stool, Niel felt a wild impulse to rush him but he restrained himself and when the man straightened their eyes met. Niel knew his intention had been read and he turned away to the basin conscious of an odd expression in the man's gaze. Again he thought, he acts as if he knows me. Maybe it was an illusion, a trick of the man's personality.

Suddenly the man took Niel by the shoulder, his eyes flaming blue into his face.

"Never rush any of them," he whispered "like you almost did me . . . don't give any of them the excuse to shoot you."

Niel whispered quickly: "Are you on my side?" But the man's hand dropped from his shoulder.

"I'm warning you . . . that's all." Abruptly he turned away and pulling the enamel heater from the corner busied himself lighting it. Still on his knees adjusting the had looked at him strangely? But what difference would it make, he's not on my side, he reminded himself.

He felt a little better when he was dressed in his uniform and smoking his pipe. This time the view from the window brought a calming pleasure and his eyes lingered on the expanse of white snow transparently clear, luminous even in the shadows of the trees. He raised the window and breathed it in. Then he heard music, music like that of a mechanical toy, a carefree, jingling sweetness. Some one's radio tuned too loud, he thought. He shut the window and opened it from the top and though it stuck a few inches from the top he was satisfied. He was still standing there when Conrad came in with the tea tray which he set on an ebony table near the fireplace.

"What mountains are they?" Niel looked to catch him off guard. Well they are not the big rocky candy mountains," grinned Conrad. "Drink this brandy, it will settle your stomach."

Niel took the glass over to the window because he felt uneasy under Conrad's watchfulness. The glass was so fragile he could easily splinter it by pressure of his fingers and his nerves felt tense enough to do it. Then he gulped the brandy; its fiery warmth was what he needed. Slowly he went to the table and sat down in the chair Conrad had pulled out for him. Conrad poised the teapot.

"Have you had a happy life, Mr. Dana?" Niel looked up at him to see if he was joking but he wasn't.

He answered slowly: "It was happy . . . apart from the war it was happy." Then he realized that they both had used the past tense and a twinge of fear disturbed him. Not a physical fear. When he glanced up Conrad was watching him intently but before their eyes met he turned away to the bed, picked up the dressing gown and slippers and headed for the clothes closet. "That's not necessary," said Niel sharply. "I can put them away myself."

Conrad laughed good-naturedly: "When you feel less strange."

"You are a doctor, aren't you?"

"You've got me so sure?"

"You're a perfect bedside manner. Conrad only laughed at his sarcasm.

While he ate Conrad said quietly, "You will dine downstairs this evening with some one who will interest you if you can overlook a certain oddity."

flame he pointed to a glass on the tray.

"There's some mouth-wash."

"Just what I need, an ether hangover is a new experience for me."

"Do you still feel nauseated?" Niel admitted: "A little."

"I'll bring something with the tea, say in half an hour."

"Make it an hour." He wanted a little time to think before more of this overwhelming personality was projected on him. When he was at the door Niel stopped him.

"What shall I call you?"

"Conrad."

Niel eyed him steadily: "Is it Herr Conrad or Herr Doctor Conrad?" Conrad was forced to laugh at his boyish silliness.

"You have a quick ear, Capt. Dana."

WHEN Conrad had gone he pressed a hand across his eyes . . . did he just imagine the man

170 Foot Span Collapses In Forest County

A truck driver escaped injury and a man riding with him received only a small cut on the back of his head when their empty truck went down with the bridge over Tionesta creek at Lynch, Forest county, on Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock. It was on Route 27015 from Frosttown (Pigeon) postoffice to Lynch.

Two heavily loaded trucks had passed over the 170-foot steel single truss span structure only about 20 minutes previously but they evidently weakened it. The entire structure dropped into the bed of the stream, which is unusually low for this time of year. The cab of the truck was crushed by falling steel, but the men escaped without difficulty. No other cars were on the bridge at the time.

The bridge was located on State Route 27015, a route which is quite heavily traveled by Warren county folk driving to Marienville and Clarion.

The truck was owned by W. J. Ochs of Lucinda, Sylvester Groelund of Snyderburg was the driver and A. W. Woibert, also of Snyderburg, was with him.

The bridge was of light construction according to present-day standards, having been erected in 1895.

S. W. Jackson, district engineer for the Pennsylvania Department of Highways, said last night that Route 948 between Chaffee and Barnes was the detour. This will add five miles distance to Sheffield from Marienville.

Mr. Jackson also said that bridge engineers looked over conditions at the site of the wrecked bridge and recommendations will follow at an early date.

Mr. Jackson also said that bridge engineers looked over conditions at the site of the wrecked bridge and recommendations will follow at an early date.

Former Resident Of Russell Bride In Jamestown Rite

Quoting the October 26th issue of the Jamestown Post-Journal, charming October afternoon nuptials took place today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett N. Gould, 211 East Sixth street, when Miss June A. Nelson, second daughter of Nels E. Nelson and the late Clara Akeley Nelson, of Russell, Pa., became the bride of Charles W. Flynn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Flynn, of Bradford, Pa.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. James Larkin of the Sinclairville Methodist church at four o'clock, in the presence of about 50 members of the immediate families.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Delbert Larkin, of Sinclairville, gown in aqua crepe, with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses and white pompons. The best man was Stanley Flynn, the bridegroom's brother, of Bradford. The bride wore an afternoon frock of gray crepe, fashioned with draped skirt. Her bridal corsage was of white rosebuds and stephanotis.

Mrs. Gould wore plumbeous roses and gardenias with black crepe and Mrs. Flynn wore gardenias and pink roses with black crepe.

A wedding supper followed immediately, candles in crystal holders flanking the three-tiered wedding cake which centered the bride's table. Aides were Mrs. George Coffin, Jr., Mrs. Merrill Coffin and Miss Barbara Coffin.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Flynn, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Flynn and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stoops, Mr. and Mrs. William Kleinberger, Bradford; Mr. and Mrs. John Hannon, Olean, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Max Davis and children, Youngsville; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Swanson, Russell.

Mr. and Mrs. Flynn left for a southern motor trip, to be at home after November 15 at 3 Collins Court, Bradford. For travel, the bride wore a fuchsia wool suit and feathered hat, with black accessories and her bridal corsage.

Mrs. Flynn has been a member of the Lundquist Hardware Company office staff in Jamestown for several years.

During the war, the bridegroom served with the navy in the Pacific theatre. He is now employed by the sales department of the Kendall Refining Company in Bradford.

Details Completed For Youth Party At Beatty Saturday

Committees for Saturday night's Elephant-Donkey Dance, to be sponsored by the Community Council PTA for Warren's young people, have been named by the co-chairmen and plans for the evening are nearly completed.

Connie McNulty and Mary Evelyn Hill are the co-chairmen named by the Committee on Community Recreation for the November parties, and they have chosen a capable staff to assure a well-rounded party.

Tessie Fino will arrange the floor show, and she already has announced that Elwood Beckwith will be the master of ceremonies. Music for the show and for dancing will be provided by Howard Soderberg's band.

The decorations, which will be appropriate to the election season, will be planned by Shirley Evans and Jean Lundahl. Bill Schellhammer will be in charge of the games, and Fred Kieshauser will operate the P. A. system.

Verna Knudsen will be in charge of the refreshments stand, and Elizabeth Dunham will supervise the check room. Baby Hubbs will be chairman of the door committee, and John Hanna's committee will arrange the set-up. Mike D'Angelo again will be at the lights.

This will be a donation party, and Agnes Porter and her committee are planning a booth that will be designed along wishing well lines. This will again give the young people an opportunity to provide money for the parties, for which no admission ever is charged.

The party will be held in Beatty school, starting at 8:15 and lasting until 11:15. Corry fans and members of the Corry football team, which plays Warren Saturday, will be invited to attend the party, and coaches and their wives also will be guests.

WATSON GROUP HAS ITS HARVEST DINNER

Watson Grange had a turnout of 58 persons for the harvest dinner held in its hall near Sandstone Springs last Friday night. Supper was served at 6:30, and at five long tables laden with chicken and all the trimmings. When members and their families had been seated about the tables, the chaplain, Dorothy Hollabaugh, read a prayer from the Grange ritual.

Attention was called to the fact that the dinner-meeting also marked the anniversary of the organization of this group 64 years ago. After the feast, a short business session was held, at which time it was decided to hold a combination box and pie social open to the public on Friday, November 1st. At the close of the business session, dancing was enjoyed to the music of Earl Wilcox and Blanche Snavley.

DRAGONS TO REST BEFORE FINAL GAME

The Warren High footballers have had quite a rest thus far this week, probably the hardest part of their practice being to keep training. The squad enjoyed a rest today when the seconds went to Bradford to battle the Owl seconds to a 7-7 tie. Fischer making the touchdown for Warren on a plunge, and practice was called off. Again yesterday there was no practice, but with tough sessions probably coming today and tomorrow and a brushing up one on Friday, the Dragons should be in tip top shape for their season's finale.

Bob Lytle's Beavers from Corry will be a potent crew despite their losses of 7-0 to Sheffield and 6-0 to Youngsville, and again the final score of the game will be scrutinized in connection with the scores hit by the other teams in the county.

The Dragon squad will be badly weakened again this week, with Dave Lopez being unable to play and ends Don Kuhre and Dave Lane on with injuries. Don Duckett's cleat wound on his leg will hold him back again this week, but he may be used if needed. A bad leg injury will also keep kicker Cliff Maize from the gridiron. The Dragons will probably use as a starting lineup Elmer Dutcher at quarterback, "Rube" Fischer at left half, Frankie Shanshala at right half and Ed Leonard at full. Leonard, along with linemen Randy White, Diz Schneider and Fred Kieshauser are about the only Warren varsity men not injured in play.

The game Saturday is Warren vs. Corry on Russell Field at 2:30.

Town Taverns Meet Thursday

There will be a meeting of the players of the Town Tavern Basketball team at 6:30 p. m. on Thursday evening. Measures will be taken to improve the team's performance for uniforms will be taken and information concerning practice sessions will be discussed. After the meeting, the Taverns have reserved the floor from 7:00 to 8:00 for a practice session.

The following men make up the team and are asked to be present: Joe Scallie, Bradcock, Elmquist, Eric Wolfe, Art McKeen, John Foley, Gil Reynolds, Heggie Schmidt, and Jack Zerris.

The Times - Mirror team has signed up for the league and has had a practice on Monday night, leaving one more opening for a team which will probably be taken by Youngsville or the National Forge.

ROCKETS GET COACH
New York, Oct. 30.—(AP)—The latest burst of activity on the All-American Conference coaching front today found the Chicago Rockets plied by a "directing" coach while the Brooklyn Dodgers were again without a permanent field boss.

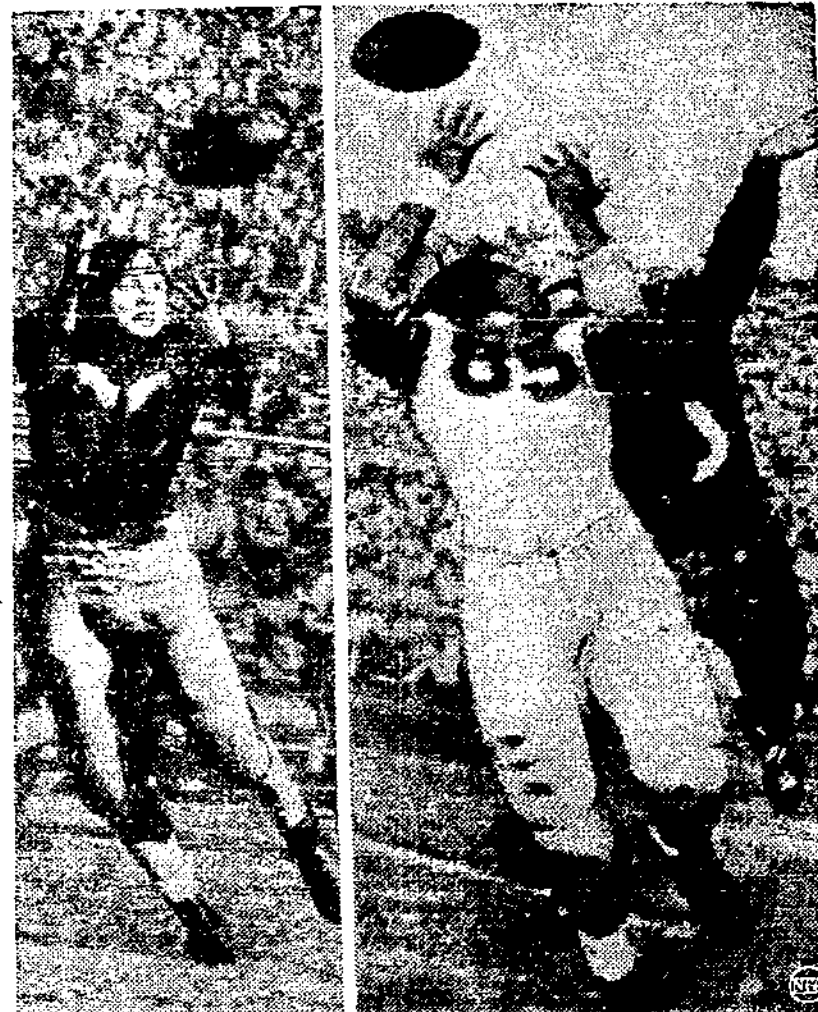

Fat Boland, former assistant to Doc Hickey when the latter was head man of the Rockets at the start of the campaign, was named "directing" coach yesterday in a surprise move by Owner John L. Keeslin.

Meanwhile the Dodgers, who thought they had a new leader in Fred Linehan, a one-time Yale tackle, received word from the old blue that he would be unable to take the team's reins because of "the pressure of business."

33 PANTHERS GO
Pittsburgh, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Coach Wesley Fessler announced today he will take only 33 Pitt Panthers to Bloomington to meet Indiana University Saturday, instead of the 38-man squad he took to South Bend for the Notre Dame contest.

The squad, which will entrain tonight for Indianapolis, will include Bill Donohoe, varsity center who got into action yesterday for the first time since he injured his leg in the Notre Dame game.

The Catches of the Season

John McQuinn, left, takes 13-yard pass from Nick Scarinty in end zone for Wake Forest's second and winning touchdown in smashing 19-6 upset of Tennessee. Wendell Williams takes 10-yard pass from Virgil Eikenberg in end zone, out of reach of defender Jim Canady, for Rice's second touchdown in Texas' spill from ranks of unbeaten and untied.

New York, Oct. 30.—(AP)—Wendell Williams, end on the Rice University football team, injured his ankle in practice a week ago. It didn't look like he would play against Texas.

But he stayed with the team's trainer for hours on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, determined to play. He achieved his objective in such startling fashion that today he was selected as the "lineman of the week" in this fourth Associated Press poll of the season.

Able to play only on the offense (his ankle wasn't strong enough to stand battering on defense) Williams caught two touchdowns passes. On the first touchdown he ran into a fence and hurt his wrist so badly he had to leave. But later he came back to snare the pigskin for his second TD, a feat that tumbled Texas out of the unbeaten and untied ranks in a major grid upset.

Williams thus joined Walter "Piggy" Barnes of Louisiana State; Burr Baldwin, UCLA; and Bernie Gallagher, of Pennsylvania, who gained the lineman award in previous weeks.

Linemen nominated included Center Chuck Bednarik, of Penn.

Jackets Meet Sharon Team Next Sunday

Edged out early in the season, 7 to 3, the Warren Red Jackets hope to gain an even split when they meet the Sharon Merchants here Sunday, and have already been made a slight favorite over Coach Mike Sebastian's boys despite the outcome of the first meeting.

Warren has really shown improvement since the game in Oil City, and it will present a much stronger attack as Frankie Eikenberg and Warner Check did not see action against the Sharon crew.

It is granted that Sharon has also improved its play, and it is entirely possible that they too have been strengthened by new additions, which will insure the fans of this section a good, close hard fought battle.

In the first game Sharon showed a grand defense, keeping the Jackets away from the goal, and flashed speed galore in the Ledbetter brothers. Warren's only tally was registered when Rosey Rosequist kicked a field goal in the second quarter.

P. I. A. A. Probing Death of Gridder

Harrisburg, Oct. 30.—(AP)—A special hearing was called today at Pittston to inquire into the death of 18-year-old Carl Floucci, who was fatally injured last week while playing football for Pittston Township high school.

Edmund Wright, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association, said the hearing will be conducted by Richard McNichols, chairman of District Two of the P.I.A.A.

McNichols announced he had summoned the team coach, and the township school's supervising principal to the hearing to answer charges that the dead boy was a graduate of the school and therefore ineligible to compete in athletics.

The matter was discussed informally at the annual meeting of the P.I.A.A. board of control on Monday night, but Wright said the district committee was empowered to take all necessary action in the matter.

Hallowe'en Strange American Festival For German Kiddies

By RICHARD KASISCHKE
(For Hal Boyle)

Berlin—(P)—Hallowe'en is a strange American festival to German children, but about 700 of them are learning about it at a youth club being run here by five American soldiers.

The clubhouse is a rambling turreted German house in the borough of Zehlendorf. Its 17 rooms are filled with clay equipment, musical instruments, books and handicraft articles.

There are enlisted men of the 311th Service Battalion hold open house for club members aged eight to 20 years, daily from 8 a. m. to about 10:30 p. m.

Head men of the quartet are Sgt. Earl Albers of Crab Orchard, Neb., and Corp. Asa Blackburn of Toronto, Ohio. They are the program arrangers and the program calls for special parties on holidays and festivals.

One of these is Hallowe'en. "The kids here celebrate Christmas just as we do, and you can hear them practicing carols now," said Blackburn. "But they don't know about Hallowe'en and it isn't easy to explain this American day. We are doing a translation of stories about the day."

"The German youngsters used to play softball quietly, just standing there and pitching and batting," said Blackburn, "but now

We've got the candles and we are going to get apples for apple-bunching.

"We are telling the kids about costumes and blackface and, yes, about Hallowe'en pranks, too, and we hope to have them visit the homes of some American dependents near here and have American kids visit the club."

"We only hope no one gets the idea of putting the majors' jeep on the garage roof. But even if they did, the major probably wouldn't get sore. It would only prove the kids at the club are learning to play the game—may be a bit too fast, but learning, and that's what counts."

They are learning other games, too—soft ball and volley ball—on school playfields near the club. "The German youngsters used to play softball quietly, just standing there and pitching and batting," said Blackburn, "but now they talk it up just as lively as any bunch of American kids." In the club's library wild west and adventure stories are favored. American comic books also go over big.

Arrangements now are being made for club members to become "pen pals" with Boy Scout groups in American towns.

Wyoming's 1946 sugar beet crop was unofficially valued at $3,460,000.

McKenney On Bridge

DEFENSE 'MISTAKE' BEATS EASY GAME

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Written for NEA Service. At all tournaments of the American Contract Bridge League there are pickup messengers to take the score cards from the bridge tables to the scorekeeper. We recently lost two of the most popular members of the pickup staff, the Roth twins, Marie Claire and Claire Marie, daughters of Harry J. Roth of Brooklyn, N. Y. They have entered Georgian Court College at Lakewood, N. J. Their bridge career there will be centered on the fine card party given each year by the music department of the college, in which the twins are freshmen.

I recall kibitzing today's hand several years ago during the summer nationals at the Convention and declarer made his contract easily. But just as trick two was turned at this table, one of the twins knocked over a box which came tumbling down step after step from the balcony. Now West continued with the ten of spades and was horrified when he realized that he was giving declarer a sluff and a ruff.

However, as the sluff and ruff was of no advantage to declarer, he trumped in dummy with the seven of hearts. East overtrumped with the jack and South had to trump with the queen.

Then there was no way to prevent West from making both the ace and ten of hearts, defeating the contract.

West could have reasoned that his correct play was the ten of spades at trick three. He could tell from the bidding that East did not have a trick in his hand, and therefore his only hope was to make two trump tricks.

Hall at Asbury Park, N. J. Marie and Claire were youngsters then and were playing on the huge balcony of the Convention Hall. I think that the noise they made was responsible for a nice defensive play executed by East and West on this hand.

West cashed the king and ace of spades, and then at most of the tables, West shifted to the diamond
